Your Financial Safety Checklist

You can do these things to improve your financial life:

Key Area	Why this is Important	Your Action	Person Responsible
 Reduce Credit Card Balance	You get charged around 20% interest on credit card balances. Unpaid credit card balances are the fastest way to go backwards financially.	Focus on reducing your Credit Card balances to NIL before you do anything else, and then keep your spending down so you can repay your credit card balance each month.	You
 Separate Bank Accounts	It's too hard to know where you are financially with just one bank account. Using 3 different accounts to keep your Bills money and your Cash Savings separate from your Everyday Account helps you tell at a glance what you can afford to spend each week.	Set up new bank accounts so you have an Everyday Account, a Bills Account, and a Cash Savings Account.	You
 Set up Auto Bank Transfers	Pay yourself first! Have your bills and cash savings covered automatically – and then spend what's left in your everyday account. So easy to keep on track by this one simple strategy.	Set up auto transfers using internet banking to transfer a set % of your wages each week into your Bills Account and into your Cash Saving Account.	You
 Create a Cash Reserve	Aim to create a cash reserve to last you for 3 months. Most income protection insurance takes 1 to 3 months to start up – so you'll need a cash reserve if anything stops you working.	Set up a Cash Savings account separate to your everyday account. Try to put aside into this account 5% of your weekly pay and build up a 3 month cash reserve.	You
 Lower Home Loan Interest Rate	Your bank won't offer you an interest rate reduction on your loan unless you ask for it. So... ask for it! This could save you thousands of $ each year.	Contact your bank and ask for a reduction in your home loan interest rate. Quote a lower comparative interest rate from another bank and tell your bank if they don't match or better it you'll consider switching your home loan to the other bank.	You
 Be Tax Effective	Many people pay tax they shouldn't have to. Being smart about where you keep your cash savings can reduce your overall family tax payable.	Move your family savings into either a home loan offset account (you won't be taxed on interest received) or into the name of a lower taxed spouse/partner to reduce your tax.	You
 Find Your Important Documents	In an emergency, can you or your spouse/partner or trusted family members find your important legal documents? Where are the originals stored? Who has copies?	Know where all your original important documents are, including your Will, Enduring Power of Attorney, Advance Health Directive, etc. Plus: Scan and send a copy of these documents to your Accountant.	You

 Keep Your Family Wealth in Your "Bloodline"	If your kids are married / in a relationship and it ends, any family wealth they inherit from you may end up going to another family and your kids miss out. We can help to set up a structure that keeps your family wealth in your family "bloodline" and protects everything you've worked so hard for.	Meet with us and our recommended Estate Planning Lawyer to discuss your options for your unique family circumstances.
